Project delays construction

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A private roadway leading to the Knights of Columbus Hall on Old Alton Road is being delayed by a city drainage project.

When the K of C property was rezoned in July 1984, an ordinance was drawn up stipulating that the Knights construct a roadway to their facility within 18 months or face shortened hours. The ordinance states the construction of the road is contingent on the city drainage project.

THE THREE-PART drainage project is still in its first phase, said Ed Schulze, city engineer.

The first phase was delayed by unsuccessful attempts to acquire land to connect the Briarcliff and North Granite retention ponds. An alternate plan to connect the ponds has been developed.

The second phase of the project was to connect underground storm drainages in the Melrose area to the Briarcliff retention ponds. The third

'Terms of ordinance a mistake' - Perjak

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The terms of the rezoning ordinance for the Knights of Columbus Hall on Old Alton Road are being challenged by Alderwoman Sharon Perjak.

The ordinance, passed in July 1984, states a private road is to be constructed within 18 months of the rezoning. The road is contingent on the completion of the city's drainage project.

PERJAK SAID she didn't know the ordinance said the road is contingent on the drainage project.

"If this was the ordinance that was passed, then there's been a mistake," she said.

Perjak made the motion for an ordinance to be brought in concerning the stipulations on the rezoning.

According to the minutes of the July 23, 1984, City Council meeting, Perjak moved "to bring in an ordinance to change to C-3 zoning contingent to the K.C.'s purchasing the land to construct a roadway (in) connection with the city's drainage."

ANDY MIOFSKY, attorney who represented the K of C during the proceedings, admitted the motion made by Perjak is slightly different than the ordinance. He said the only document that matters is the ordinance.

"She (Perjak) contacted the city attorney and had the ordinance in her hand. If she didn't like what it said, she should have changed it then," he said.

Perjak is also trying to work out an agreement between the Norwood Subdivision residents and the K of C concerning the construction of a fence between their properties.

SINCE MANY residents adjacent to the Knights hall do not want a fence between their properties, (See MISTAKE, Page 5A) phase was to construct an escape-type retention pond in the Melrose area.

T.A. FEELER, president of the Tri-Cities Columbus Homes Association, said the Knights will construct the road when the third part of the project is completed.

A road would normally have had to be constructed alongside the planned Melrose retention pond, to maintain.

Instead, the Knights plan to pay for the road and share it with the city.

College needs repairs

GRANITE CITY — Emergency repairs need to be done to the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College, area reporters learned at a press conference Monday.

"We have known that there will need to be structural repairs, i.e. the roof," said Kathy O'Dell, director of public information.

The need for new roofing could especially be seen in computer laboratories where computer terminals were covered with plastic to protect them from the rain.

"It's state-of-the-art equipment," said Lee Knoebel, dean of administrative services. "We have to remove the plastic before we can use it."

The rain damage could also be seen in many of the classrooms and hallways where ceiling tiles were missing and others were stained from water that had leaked in. A portion of the roof was replaced by the Granite City School District before the building was sold to the college last year. However, during last October's heavy rains, 12 new leaks were discovered.

Roofing repairs would cost $1,058,614 and ceiling repairs would cost $228,178, according to a report. Other repairs needed to the campus include auto shop renovation, handicap accessibility, protection health and life safety repair and auto shop renovation. The cost of

GC Steel modernization, bridges discussed in Japan

Gov. James Thompson and other state officials met in Japan last week with owners of Granite City Steel and a firm interested in investing in a proposed plant in Macoupin County.

Top officials of NKK Steel Co., a joint venture partner in Granite City Steel, discussed their plans to refurbish the mill and also expressed concern about improving Mississippi River bridges, said Sharon Sharp, deputy director for marketing of the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA).

Sharp participated in the meeting along with the governor.

NIPPON KOKAN officials, she said Monday, seemed pleased by the governor's report that he and Missouri Gov. John Ashcroft had recently appointed a task force to recommend bridge improvements.

DCCA Director Mike Woelfel will be in touch with the firm later to discuss possible state assistance in further modernization of the steel mill in Granite City, she said. Only a general discussion was held in Japan, Sharp added.

The governor and Illinois Department of Energy and Natural Resources Director Don Etchison also met with executives of Marubeni Co., a large Japanese holding firm which has been exploring the possibility of becoming an investor in the COGA plant proposed for northeast Macoupin County.

Etchison said Monday the governor told the Marubeni officials that the state is seeking ways to help COGA after abolition of the federal Synthetic Fuels Corp., from which loan guarantees had been sought.

"THE GOVERNOR encouraged their involvement. They said they were seriously interested in the project and would continue the discussions (with COGA)," Etchison added.

COGA President Robert "Bud" Meissner has been in contact with Marubeni for several months.

Marubeni is considering both involvement in financing and possibly providing some equipment for the plant, he said.

Currently, several large U.S. firms and a Norwegian firm are investors in COGA.

Etchison and Ted Bean, director of marketing for Freeman United Coal, one of the COGA investors, also toured the Ube coal-to-ammonia plant in Japan last week. It is currently the only operating

Police may seek arbitration

GRANITE CITY POLICEMEN'S union may seek arbitration to settle its contract. The union and members of the city's negotiating team reached an impasse in negotiations Feb. 4. The groups met after policemen turned down a tentative two-year contract. Alderman Brett Hanke, chairman of the city negotiating team, said the contract offer had been withdrawn.

Drainage plan gets go ahead

A PLAN THAT may decrease flooding in the Dobrey Slough area has been approved by the Granite City Council. Aldermen gave Mayor Von Dee Cruse approval to sign the joint agreement with Nameoki Township and the Metro East Sanitary District to operate a deep water well. Approval is contingent on wording changes which would include appointing someone to monitor groundwater level changes.

School workers get raises

RAISES SIMILAR to those extended to teachers, secretaries and custodians were awarded to more than 30 District 9 employees Feb. 4. The action completes the first district-wide wage hike in more than three years. The school board granted an across-the-board 7 percent pay hike for executive secretaries, computer monitors, teachers' assistants and crossing guards at three posts outside Granite City. Also covered were substitute teachers and cafeteria workers.

Kassing resigns BAC post

DON W. KASSING, president of the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College, will resign his position later this month. Kassing has been head of the campus since January 1985. He was the third man to serve as president of the campus since it opened in the fall of 1983. BAC officials have yet to name a replacement for Kassing.

Venice joins drive to save funds

PETITIONS TO EXTEND federal general revenue sharing funds are being sought following a resolution unanimously passed Feb. 4 by the City Council. Venice is urging the U.S. government to continue the federal revenue sharing program. The program ends in October unless Congress extends it.

Boilers costing school big bucks

CITING HIGH UTILITY costs and heating inefficiency, Ron Landman, director of buildings and grounds, has asked District 9 to consider modernizing the boiler system at the high school campus. Landman estimates it could cost $550,000 to modernize the heating system at GCHS. It cost $146,083 to run the boilers last year.

Sewage could drop in City's lap

A CLOG IN THE DISPOSAL of city sewage could be caused by a recent revision in St. Clair County's landfill code. Prohibited is dumping of "liquids, sludge, containers or residuals from the treatment of liquid waste" in any St. Clair County landfill. The city's sewage treatment plant is affected by the measure because the plant dumps sludge in a Belleville landfill owned by Laidlaw Inc. City aldermen passed a resolution Feb. 4 protesting the revision and urging the St. Clair County Board to give an exemption for publicly-owned treatment plants.

Steel plant's losses shared

AS JOINT OWNERS of National Steel Corp., two companies, Nippon Kokan and National Intergrupp Inc., shared equally in an $88.4 million loss last year. Robert D. McBride, National Steel president and former president of Granite City Steel, said price discounting and high levels of imported steel hurt the corporation's profitability last year.

Quote of the Week - Greathouse

"EVERYTHING BUT dead bodies comes down the Cahokia Canal," said Shang Greathouse, executive director of MESD in regard to his district's week-long effort to keep that canal from flooding. MESD workers worked all week to reduce flooding in Cahokia.

Winter weather reached a new low yesterday as heavy rain turned to ice and fog. Ice turned the Tri-Cities into an ice rink. Dozens of broken water meters, burst water pipes and heavy rain collaborated to flood many basements. No estimate of the damage is available.

Sanctuary movement thumbing noses at immigration laws

"They are calling it 'The sanctuary movement.' Thumbing their noses at our nation's immigration laws, churchmen are smuggling illegal aliens into the United States and hiding them after they get here.

"Professing Christians conspire to create a wave of innocent, selfless sympathy for illegals. And it is easier for soft-hearted Americans to open their arms to everybody than to turn their backs on anybody.

"But we need to recognize the engineers on these underground railroads for what they are — political activists conducting an aggressive offensive against United States foreign policy.

"You can hear it in their public utterances: 'An escalating military budget is taking money from the poor in this country to kill the poor in other countries.'

That quotes Renny Goldman of the Chicago Religious Task Force on Central America.

Various Protestant and Catholic congregations have been harboring illegal aliens from Latin America, 'here to escape political persecution.'

They are aware that the Federal Refugee Act of 1980 does, in fact, offer sanctuary for aliens fleeing political persecution.

However, the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization has identified far and away the greater number of these illegals as 'economic refugees.' They come here seeking the more jobs, the better pay and the more welfare which our nation offers. Since most all Americans have roots outside this country, there is an instinctive empathy for anybody ingenious enough even to sneak into this 'land of opportunity.'

The problem with that premise, however, is that those who get started 'outside our laws' are less likely to respect the obligations of citizenship.

And worse — while people with needed skills stand in line for years awaiting legal entry and naturalization — our welfare system gets overloaded with the sneakers.

A year ago, three respected refugee groups issued an unusual joint declaration. The American Jewish Committee, the Center for Migration Studies and the International Rescue Committee pronounced "the tendency to confuse refugee policy and foreign policy is a dangerous trend."

Now that the sanctuary movement has been identified for what it is, you can expect it to adopt some other innocent-sounding label for itself — but what it is a clerical front for infiltration and potential subversion.

County humane society could bring needed reforms

To the Editor:

Madison County now has the opportunity, with the support of its residents, to proceed with the meshing of the animal control department and a countywide humane society.

Not only will this formation benefit the animals by implementing humane methodologies, it will also benefit the county government, pet-owning residents, and non-pet-owning residents.

Throughout the country, many county- and city-operated animal control facilities are joining with local humane organizations to work together on common goals.

By implementing progressive programs, the county pound will no longer be seen as a rabies control center, animal control center, or "death trap." The animal control department must work in unison with humane organizations to attack the source of the problem, rather than just dealing with the results of that problem. The problem is pet overpopulation, coupled with irresponsible pet ownership.

There are many proven methods of dealing with pet overpopulation, which in turn should reduce the animal control costs for the county: strict enforcement of Illinois law requiring all animals adopted be spayed or neutered; humane euthanasia; increased adoptions to responsible owners; increased percentages of lost pets returned to their owners; increased percentages of dogs licensed; enactment and enforcement of cat licensing; humane education and public relations; differential licensing for altered and unaltered animals; foster programs, etc.

Spaying and neutering is the most cost-effective as well as the most humane way of coping with the problem.

A $20 subsidy for the spaying of one dog can save up to $8,000 in shelter costs, since one unrestrained female dog may breed 200 pups during her lifetime.

The national average cost of each animal which passes through the dog pound system and is held for five days is $40.

Tree of Lights makes difference

To the Editor:

Although the ring of the Christmas bell has long since been silenced, the kettles put away, and the Tree of Lights taken down for another year, I wanted you to know that because of your support the Salvation Army has helped to make a difference in our community.

It is so vital to have media support for a campaign like that conducted by the Salvation Army each year. Without it, we would not be able to raise the funds needed and would therefore have a much diminished effect upon the community.

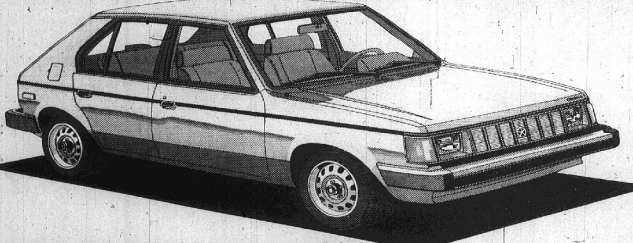

As a newcomer to Granite City, I particularly appreciated the exciting coverage your paper provided, not just once or twice but throughout the entire campaign.

Thanks to you and many others like you, 888 families representing 3,654 individuals received a complete Christmas dinner. More than 1,835 children received new and used toys and 885 persons in nursing homes were visited with gifts and song.

WALT PURYEAR heads the solid waste management unit for the Missouri Department of Natural Resources.

Puryear accustomed to hazardous waste

By BILL MILLIGAN
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Walt Puryear didn't give hazardous waste much thought 10 years ago. Not many people did.

Today, he makes his living regulating hazardous waste for the Missouri Department of Natural Resources' St. Louis regional office. Puryear is unit chief in charge of the department's waste management division.

PURYEAR, 36, is a lifelong resident of the Granite City area. Married to the former Judy Campbell of Granite City, he makes his home at 2416 State St.

Missouri's Department of Natural Resources has four regulatory departments located in St. Louis. Puryear heads the waste management division. The other three monitor ground water, drinking water and air pollution.

Puryear's unit regulates 20 solid waste facilities and more than 2,000 hazardous waste sites in a nine-county region of Missouri.

MOST PEOPLE want to avoid hazardous waste sites, fearing contamination or disease, he said. Puryear and his staff are usually among the first to investigate such sites.

"I've worked 12 years in an industrial environment," Puryear said. "I've worked around some pretty hazardous items. I have experience dealing with them."

"The general public doesn't have that kind of experience," he said. "That's why their tax dollars hire us. It is our job to protect the public."

Puryear said his first exposure to environmental issues came at Earth Day events while he was a student at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"I'VE NEVER BEEN an advocate of anything," Puryear said. "I never had that strong an interest in environmental issues."

He came to the Department of Natural Resources in 1980 after five years with the research staff of Carter Carburetor in St. Louis.

"They had extensive emissions testing equipment," he said. "I felt it must be pretty important for the company to make that type investment in it."

WHEN MISSOURI instituted emissions testing prerequisites for auto registration in 1980, the state needed someone familiar with automobiles who could sell the public on the need for inspections.

"I was hired in a public relations effort," he said. "I demonstrated pollution testing equipment and the benefits of routine maintenance on your car."

"The program wasn't met with open arms," Puryear said. "We must have tested 10,000 cars that year."

In September 1981, Puryear became a field inspector, based in the St. Louis office. His duties were split between the solid waste and air pollution units.

DURING THAT TIME he saw more than 2,000 sites in his region declared contaminated by one form of hazardous waste or another. Puryear has visited many of them.

"We found out what we don't know can hurt us," he said.

Today, his department investigates more than 100 complaints about hazardous waste management each year. Missouri law mandates 100 inspections of the 20 landfills in his region annually.

One of the facilities in his region is the dioxin bunker at Times Beach, Mo., he said.

"IT PUT US (Puryear's department) on the map," he said. "One of my main concerns now is that the dioxin incinerator in Springfield (Mo.) may be shut down. Federal Superfund dollars are drying up and there haven't been any other sponsors."

One cab company opens

GRANITE CITY — A new cab company has opened in Granite City, while the existing Checker Cab Co. has been sold.

Lloyd Metz, owner of the new Madison County Cab Co. at 1200 Edwardsville Road, said he plans to open this week. He also owns St. Clair/Collinsville Cab Co. in Collinsville.

METZ'S COMPANY will have a fleet of three red cabs in Granite City.

Originally from Cahokia, Metz said he has been in the taxicab business since 1979. He plans to be open seven days a week, 24 hours a day, and to offer a senior citizens' discount the first month of operation.

Senate approves sale of Conrail

The U.S. Senate by a vote of 54 to 39 Feb. 4 approved legislation providing for returning to the private sector the federal government's 85 percent interest in Conrail, and sent the plan to the House of Representatives.

S. 638, a bill to sell the freight railroad to the Norfolk Southern Corp., was sponsored by Commerce Committee Chairman Jack Danforth, R-Missouri.

Sens. Alan Dixon and Paul Simon, Illinois Democrats, opposed the bill as weakening rail service and employment in Metro East areas.

McEntyre started Checker Cab Co. in 1976. The company employs 20 drivers and has six cabs.

Gibson plans to keep most of the company's drivers, but he will paint the fleet of cabs orange, he said.

A RATE INCREASE for Checker Cab Co. is being considered by the Granite City Council.

Last month, McEntyre asked to raise his rates 25 cents.

Japanese steel expert assigned position at Granite City Steel

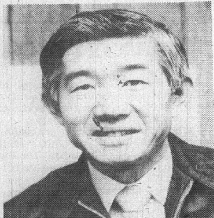

Employees of the Granite City Division of National Steel Corp. are working in history-making times. National Steel is owned 50 percent by National Intergroup Inc. of Pittsburgh and 50 percent by Nippon Kokan of Japan.

"WE ARE VERY PLEASED and honored to have Mr. Hideki Sato, manager of technical management coordination, assigned to our division from National's Technical Management Coordination (TMC) group in Pittsburgh," said Hank Sangster, GC Steel assistant general manager.

Sato has the distinction of being the first Nippon Kokan representative to be working with Granite City Division employees full-time.

While other groups of NKK representatives have visited the plant for extended periods this past year, Sato proudly said he is designated as GCS employee I.D. number "NKK-001."

ON THE DIVISION level, Sato is assigned to the Operations Department.

Hideki Sato

ment headed by Sangster and also reports weekly to Mr. Ito of the corporate TMC group.

The Technical Management Coordination group headed by Mr. Tani, Mr. Doi and Mr. Ito is a highly-oriented organization of 13 people, with representatives of the group also based at National's Headquarters, Great Lakes and Midwest divisions.

"The purpose of my employment at Granite City Division is to gather first-hand knowledge regarding quality and operations to assist this division in improvement in those areas," said Sato.

"MY DESIRE is to be one of you...a fellow employee of Granite City Division. Our goals are the same...to improve productivity and quality to make a profit so we can continue in business."

"Granite City employees are very good people—very frank and honest—and have very much demonstrated an open and cooperative effort."

The product mix at Granite City calls for special conditions, Sato explained. "Our customers are in the business of pipe construction, metal buildings, tin plate, including Midwest Division, etc., while for example, Great Lakes' customers are based in the auto industry."

BECAUSE OF RECENT improvements in our tin plate products, we are now able to strongly penetrate the two-piece steel can market."

The special issues such as yield and quality at GCS have been investigated and studied by TMC representatives the past year, with their mission being recommendations and suggestions for short-term activity to increase profit.

THE GOVERNOR ALSO said he feels encouraged about the possible sale of Illinois coal to South Korea for its utilities.

"BOTH HAVE STRONG positions," Puryear said. "My job is to insure all landfills are in compliance with federal regulations. Maintaining credibility can sometimes be difficult, but we have a good staff here."

"If we are required to put up a fence, we'll think about donating the money, but if we're not required to put up the fence, that's another thing," he said.

City Building Inspector John Jakich and Dave Morgan, chairman of the city's Plan Commission, both agree that the Knights are not required to construct a fence by the city's zoning ordinance.

Kassing said that enrollment at the Granite City campus has increased over 35 percent in full time day students since 1983. The campus had 367 students enrolled last year, as compared to 272 students in 1983.

The college's faculty is also involved with the needs of the campus. "We have had people with split assignments with the Belleville and Granite City campuses," said Leo Welch, a representative of the faculty union. "Faculty have taken a zero increase for a couple years also."

Election '86

Three vie for District 21 seat

Primary elections

There are three candidates running for the 21st District seat on the Madison County Board. They are Wade Campbell, Vasil Eftimoff and Fred P. Schuman Jr.

Wade Campbell

A biography was not turned in by Wade Campbell of 14 Briarcliff Drive, 39 no information concerning his candidacy was available.

Vasil Eftimoff

The incumbent is seeking his second term as the representative of District 21. Eftimoff, 61, is a retired school administrator for the Granite City School District. He formerly held office as a precinct committeeman of Precinct 21, and a member of the Granite City School Board. He is a Democrat.

Born in Granite City, Eftimoff attended local schools and received a bachelor of arts degree from Illinois College, Jacksonville, and a masters degree in education from St. Louis University.

He is a World War II veteran, having served in the 13th Armored Division in Europe. His military decorations include the Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Good Conduct Medal and Combat Infantryman's Badge.

Eftimoff is a member of Co-ordinated Youth Services, Disabled American Veterans, American Legion, Eagles Aerie, Lincoln Athletic Club, St. Louis Ambassadors, Illinois Historical Society, Granite City Ambassadors, St. Louis Zoo Association, Missouri Humane Society, St. Louis Symphony Association, Masonic Lodge 85, Tri-City Shrine Club and Aired Shrine Temple.

Eftimoff sees unemployment and better bridge access to and from St. Louis as issues in this election.

Vasil Eftimoff
"We have been seeking new industry and have been successful to a degree."

Fred Schuman
"If problems are attacked with intelligence, plans, organization and hard work... people become enthusiastic."

Retraining of the area's unemployed is helping to decrease the area's unemployment, Eftimoff said.

"We have been seeking new industry and have been successful to a degree," he said.

Eftimoff said he would support a resolution for legislation to provide better bridge access, especially for improvement of the McKinley Bridge and for continuation of the Great River Road to East St. Louis and Cahokia.

He would not support under current conditions, however, a resolution allowing a tax cut on Bill Nichols' property to save Nichols airport.

Eftimoff and his wife, Anita, reside at 2800 Michigan Ave. They have one son, James.

Fred P. Schuman

Also running for the County Board seat is Fred P. Schuman Jr., 41, of 2609 Edison Ave. Schuman is serving his third term as alderman in Granite City.

He is employed as an assistant principal of Granite City High School. His educational achievements include a bachelor of science degree, a master of science degree, an administrative specialist degree in supervision and a specialist degree in administration.

Schuman is seeking the office "to enhance the economic growth of our county and city by becoming involved in the process for an airport and a second major bridge over the Mississippi."

Easy bridge access, to the Illinois side of the river is the key to its growth and to a decrease in unemployment, he said.

"I believe state and federal monies would be available for this project if we could show immediate employment and business opportunities," he said.

He also said Nichols' airport is important to Madison County.

"I am interested in working with the area mayors, councilmen and Mr. Nichols to bring an airport to our region. This has to be a county initiative."

Schuman said he would leave the question of reduced taxes for Nichols up to the assessor.

He said the primary issue in this election is to put an individual into office who provides leadership, initiative and willingness to work.

"If problems are attacked with intelligence, plans, organization and hard work by leaders, people become enthusiastic, things happen and become more enjoyable," he said.

"A new attitude of pride develops. This is why it is important for the people to choose leaders who have a proven desire to work and become involved. There are many specific issues, but the main one in any facet of life is a willingness to work."

Schuman and his wife, Gloria, have three children - Laney, 15, Leah, 13, and Patrick, 7.

Dixie Lynn Price Price tops fund drive for 4th year

GRANITE CITY — Dixie Lynn Price, 12, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Price, 2319 Zippel Ave., received top honors in the 1985 Multiple Sclerosis research fund drive. Price raised $3,053 from pledges after leading 30 books during the campaign.

A seventh grade student at Coolidge Junior High, she was the top fund-raiser in an 81-county region in Missouri and Illinois for the fourth consecutive year.

CHALLENGER

By JAMES LAY

In memory of the truly brave American astronauts who risked their precious lives to give man a greater step toward the future:

This is a day for remembering seven of the world's bravest people as they accepted the challenge of conquering space and offering an example of bravery and heroics.

We will never forget the great deeds they did for the United States of America. This tragedy will always be in the hearts of young and old alike.

Deep in our hearts, we will never forget the love they gave for their country. May they rest in peace.

MY THREE VALENTINES

By JUDY BUCKINGHAM

My three loves are so easy to love. Cause God sent them to me from above. They are all so special, as you can see.

Because I love them and they love me. It's so wonderful. God was so great.

To bless me with three who love and not hate. The world is so beautiful because of my three. They made my life as happy as can be.

TO MY SON

By JUDY BUCKINGHAM

Just wanted to let you know How very much I love you so. Here's wishing you a good day. Love it is great in every way. Love you, Son, like a mother should.

I give you the world if I could. Happy Birthday to you, my son. Oh this day, I hope you have a lot of fun.

TRIBUTE TO RICK NELSON

By MELINDA NIX

Rick Nelson was a great singer. He grew up on his parents' show. The one that spurred popularity. And made his voice well known. There will never be another to over till his place.

With his own style and handsome face. It was always a delight to see him. And always fun to hear him sing. He was talented with a sense of humor.

No other memories will ring. He was much too young to die. But the good ones, they always stay. Buy a price for popularity. And then somehow fade away. Goodbye, Rick. We will miss you.

Women seek greater awareness of rape

EDWARDSVILLE — A group of area women is organizing a candlelight vigil for Valentine's Day outside the Madison County Courthouse to raise public awareness of sentences for sex offenses and abuse of women.

The vigil will begin at 6 p.m. Friday, Feb. 13, at the Main Street entrance to the courthouse, said Pat Bortko of Glen Carbon, an organizer. Afterward, speakers will talk about sex abuse at St. John's United Methodist Church next door, she said.

Others in the group include Maggi Massa and Maureen Kinsella, both of Edwarsville, and Nancy Gaines of Glen Carbon.

THE VIGIL HAS BEEN sparked by recent sentences given to sex offenders in Madison County Circuit Court, Bortko said.

In one case, a 72-year-old man was sentenced to four years of intensive supervision probation for sexual offenses involving three girls. Perry L. Flaugher entered Alford pleas in the case, meaning he did not admit guilt, but that the prosecution alleged it had enough evidence to convict him.

Flaugher was sentenced by Associate Judge Charles V. Romani Jr. Romani also imposed a six-month jail term at the end of probation, subject to review by the court. THE WOMEN ALSO are concerned about sentences given to five men who pleaded guilty to sex offenses involving a 19-year-old retarded woman. They were sentenced to a year of court supervision and ordered to pay $5 in court costs.

The defendants, all of Edwarsville, were indicted by a Madison County grand jury for criminal sexual assault, a felony. Under a plea bargain arrangement, they pleaded guilty to criminal sexual abuse, a misdemeanor.

They held the woman at a house for three days and sexually assaulted her. She had accepted a ride with one of the men whom she knew.

FOUR DEFENDANTS were sentenced by Judge Charles Chapman. The fifth was sentenced by Judge P. J. O'Neill.

The women believe plea bargaining has resulted in light sentences for sex offenders.

"Everyone has the right to strong, safe and free."

Bortko said the group hopes to raise awareness of sexual abuse, advocate prosecution and appropriate sentences for offenders, and support abuse victims.

The vigil will be on Valentine's Day because it is a day set aside for "love and respect for all people," she said.

India; a collection of contradictions

There are some rarely-understood facts that surface when dealing with a nation as diverse as it is culturally rich. There are also some interesting traits that show human nature is the same no matter what the region or background.

- India has 64 different languages and over 300 different dialects. Hindi is the common language in most areas. A limited offering of English is taught through public education. A private school — and the luxury of good English is certainly a prize few attain.
- The countries' currency is the rupee. A dollar could be legally traded at a ratio of more than 11 to one.
- The people are generally friendly, but shy. Nearly everyone loves to have their pictures taken though. Some would call their entire family over for American cameras.
- It was not unlikely — in city and country alike — to see cars and buses moving around rickshaws, bicycles and workers with heavy baggage balanced on their heads.
- Driving — like most foreign countries — is a lesson in insanity. We took a bus. The natives move literally within millimeters of the next vehicle. It wasn't unusual to be turning left onto another street and have the cars on that street keep honking towards you until there was just nowhere else to go. Incredibly, the only accident we saw was on a country road between two cars.
- The weather was constantly balmy, like metro area summers — except the humidity lasted from about 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. That could be very draining in buses without air conditioning.

- Hawkers and beggars were everywhere tourists might be. The hawkers wares were generally of reasonable to very good quality and were easily bargained for. We obtained some nice cobra skin purses, wallets, etc. for $10 and less.
- The beggars were different. They were professionals. And even if they are little half-naked kids holding babies — and most were the knowledge that this was their job, kept us from getting sentimental.
- Our Calcutta guide said the kids would literally rent the babies from mothers to look in worse shape when tourists appeared.
- Many camped outside hotels, so that no matter what time of day it was, they could instantly appear.
- An open right hand was painful, printed and drawn on any bare standing area throughout India. This, we were told, signified Gandhi and his works for peace. His influence still seemed very strong.
- If there wasn't a symbol for Gandhi in public view, there was usually a movie poster of some variety — many different from our stereotypical thoughts of strict Indian society — pasted over another movie poster on a wall.

Oak Ridge Boys highlight music show

Step on out to the Fabulous Fox Feb. 14 through 16 for the best of country music entertainment with The Oak Ridge Boys and special guests, The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band.

For the third consecutive year, The Oak Ridge Boys return to the stage of the Fabulous Fox to thrill St. Louis audiences. The Oaks (as they are affectionately called by their fans), have been described as a "gospel harmonizing quartet singing country music with a rock and roll band." This may be the closest anyone will come to pinning a label on one of today's most successful country-pop groups.

Today they have climbed solidly on the country music road since a 1976 low. Their first country hit single was "Ya'll Come Back Soon," followed by their monster hit single, "Elvira," in 1981.

The Nitty Gritty Dirt Band, another country-pop music legend, will join the Oaks for the five concert weekend. Celebrating 20 years together, this consistently innovative, consummate entertaining quintet is not only one of the longest lived of American musical groups, but also among the best loved and most respected.

The Second Most Popular Thing in St. Louis!

Behind The Scenes

By Adam Pinsker
Executive Director
Dance St. Louis

Dance St. Louis is a not-for-profit sponsor of performances, education and service programs and has been bringing major dancing attractions to the St. Louis area for 20 years.

Dance St. Louis, known as Dance Concert Society until 1981, has presented 60 professional companies in 114 programs spanning the scope of dance. More than 250,000 adults and 100,000 children have seen works by famous choreographers such as George Balanchine, Martha Graham, Jerome Robbins, Merce Cunningham, Twyla Tharp, Agnes de Mille, Bob Fosse and Alvin Ailey.

Dance St. Louis will present the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater at 8 p.m. on Feb. 14 and 15 in the Kiel Opera House. Tickets range from $10 to $21 and discounts are available for groups and students. Call 968-3770 for more information.

The Ailey Company will be in St. Louis on an eighty American tour, sponsored by the Philip Morris Co., which granted the dance company $300,000 at the start of this season.

The company's contemporary style blends a variety of dance styles reflecting the American heritage.

Equal to Dance St. Louis' interest in providing the area with quality dance performances is its commitment to the advancement of the art.

Local dance students and their instructors have the opportunity to learn from visiting artists in master classes organized by Dance St. Louis through youth programs, thousands of school children each year are enhanced by an introduction to dance.

The Ailey Company, for instance, will be participating in Dance St. Louis' Education Impact Program.

On Feb. 14 at 11 a.m. in Kiel

Opera House, several of its members will give a lecture and demonstration of the modern dance techniques used in their company's repertoire.

The Kansas City Ballet also will give a young people's performance at 11 a.m. on March 7 in Kiel Opera House. Group tickets must be purchased in advance through the Dance St. Louis Box Office at 8338 Big Bend Blvd., Webster Groves, 63119.

Dance St. Louis also serves as a hub for local dance companies, providing technical expertise and a central coordinating facility for major local events, such as International Dance Week. About 20 area companies are service members of Dance St. Louis.

In addition, Dance St. Louis is often asked to help other local organizations when they need dance components. Last summer, Dance St. Louis organized a dance contest for the new Children's Theatre Stage at Veiled Prophet Fair. Dance St. Louis also assisted in Union Station's opening celebration party.

Funding for Dance St. Louis comes from a variety of sources, including the Arts and Education Council, the National Endowment of the Arts, Mid-America Arts Alliance, Missouri Arts Council and Regional Cultural and Performing Arts Development Commission.

The support group for Dance St. Louis is the Troupe, volunteers who assist the organization in a number of ways. The Troupe runs the Boutique, the small gift booth outside many performances, and sponsor benefit parties and other support activities.

The Troupe will schedule a reception following the Feb. 14 performance at the National Bowling Hall of Fame. Tickets are $25 per person and available through the Dance St. Louis office. Call 968-4341.

Celebrate the Chinese New Year with a stir-fry dish to begin the Year of the Tiger in style.

Happy New Year.

On February 9 the Chinese lunar year rings in 4684, a time when many Occidentals join the Chinese all over the world in celebrating the Year of the Tiger.

Recent travel to China has increased an interest in the variety of food prepared there. Chinese styles of cooking - roughly divided into north, south, east and west regions - even vary from province to province.

Peking is the center of northern cooking. As the capital of China many centuries, it became the culinary center, drawing inspiration throughout the country. Pekingese food offers an abundance of wheat rather than rice. It suggests noodle, dumpling and bun dishes. Fried Noodle Cake with Pork Topping is a good example.

The most famous of Chinese cooking styles is Cantonese. Canton, the capital of Kwantung in the south, was the first port open for trade. Cantonese restaurants were the first to pop up in China towns in the United States. Stir-frying and blanching, using a large assortment of fish, meats and vegetables, are favored cooking methods.

In a dish like Buddha's Delight, the Cantonese may use 15 to 20 different vegetables. The recipe here calls for only eight to 10 vegetables.

China's east is the land of fish. Shanghai is the culinary center of Kiangsu and Chekiang provinces; best known for its "red cooking," using soy sauce over a slow fire. Hangchow province, by West Lake, is known for fresh water fish, especially shrimp.

Shanghai Shrimp is typical. Shrimp is coated in a cornstarch and flour batter, fried, then served with soy dipping sauce.

Szechuan and Hunan methods of cooking come from China's western region. Far removed from the rest of China, its cuisine is unique. Both styles produce hot and spicy foods, with Hunan cooking spicier due to hot peppers grown there.

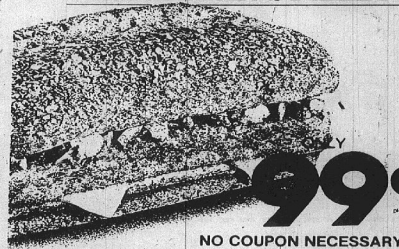

Today in the United States, Szechuan and Hunan restaurants are about as popular as Cantonese. Spicy Beef and Peppers has the touch and taste of China's western region.

School news

4C GRANITE CITY JOURNAL—February 12, 1986

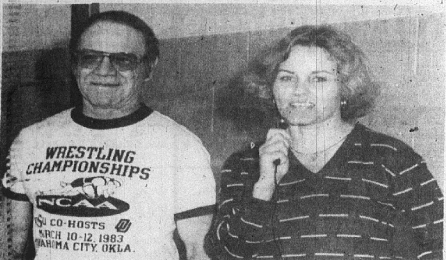

POLKA PARTNERS. Marla Schrader guides Bob Pyo through a difficult polka step. Schrader called the class "the most enjoyable P.E. class I've ever taken. I had a terrific time."

HAVE ACT TOGETHER. Dineen Griffin and Craig Patton have it together as they smile at each other. "This class has been fun," Griffin said.

THE RIGHT FOOT. Tammy Gray and Chris Ashmore try to get this waltz started on the right foot. "The guys were good dancers," Gray said.

Class overcomes shyness

GRANITE CITY — Shyness was not a problem for this year's senior dance class. More than 600 seniors at Granite City High School danced five hours a week for 10 weeks this past semester.

"They learned the basics of ballroom dancing while whirling around the gym," Linda Hill and Walt Whitaker were in charge of teaching the seniors new dance techniques. Other dance teachers included Terri Papa, Don Deterding and Tom Wyrstok.

"Senior dance is one of my favorite classes to teach. The students are all ladies and gentlemen in the class," said Hill. "It is fun to see the students learn each dance and become more confident."

"Senior dance has been a different experience for me," adds Whitaker. "For the most part, it was enjoyable and the kids were really good."

"This was the best P.E. class I have ever taken and it should definitely be continued," said Sherry Dawson.

Even though the music has faded, students remember the fox trot, waltz, cha-cha, jitterbug, Texas 2-step, and polka. The memories will always be part of the seniors who participated in the class.

Prather Students of Month

GRANITE CITY — This year, Prather Elementary School is conducting a Student of the Month program.

Each month a student from each grade level is chosen by his or her teacher to represent the class.

A teacher's selection is based on the student's academic ability, sportsmanship, citizenship, cooperation, attitude, effort, involvement in school activities and additional programs.

Students selected for Prather Student of the Month for January are: Bryan Hines, grade one; Fian Derner, grade two; Todd Croak, grade three; Erika Nothstine, grade four; Tammy Meinhardt, grade five; and Joe Brewer, grade six.

The Student of the Month program is coordinated by Janet Smith and Suzanne Lentz, teachers at Prather.

GC Junior High honor roll note

The Feb. 5 edition of the Granite City Journal contained the honor roll list for both Grigsby Junior High and Coolidge Junior High students. The headline which appeared with the article mentioned only Grigsby.

Instead, it was the first-semester 1985-86 honor roll for all of District 9's junior high schools.

Food Fair promotes a healthy appetite

GRANITE CITY — To culminate a study of the four basic food groups, Mrs. Nancy Rainer's fourth grade class at Frohardt School held a food fair and "tasting" party last month. The class compiled a lengthy list of what it considered to be healthy snacks. Each child took a copy of the list home and, with parent cooperation, selected one or two items to bring to share with classmates.

On the specified day, the snacks were divided as much as possible and each child chose the foods he wanted to eat.

Some of the foods shared were: pineapple, dates, raisins, celery stuffed with cheese or peanut butter, popcorn, carrot sticks, peanuts and finger-jello.

"We hope this study and food fair encouraged children to reach for healthy snacks instead of junk food," Rainer said.

TASTE AND TELL. Students in Nancy Rainer's fourth grade class at Frohardt School taste food from the four basic food groups. The event marked the end of a study of foods which are best for everyone.

District 9 rescinds AIDS policy

GRANITE CITY — The School Board last week rescinded its Jan. 21 action to adopt a districtwide policy dealing with AIDS (acquired immune deficiency syndrome).

The board had adopted a policy suggested for it by the National Education Association. At the suggestion of Illinois Association of School Boards officials, that policy was dropped Feb. 4.

THE POLICY adopted in January dealt specifically with AIDS. IASB officials urged District 9 to first adopt a policy dealing with communicable diseases and hold off on an AIDS policy pending further study by that organization.

The board's original AIDS guidelines touched these main points:

Infected students could have been excluded from contact with other students or school employees under the guidelines adopted.

SUCH DECISIONS would have been made on a case-by-case basis, based on the behavior of the student, the expected type of interaction with others in the school setting, and the impact on the student and others involved in that setting.

School employees would have been governed by similar rules.

UNDER THE PLAN, school employees were to be entitled to medical leave and disability benefits if they became AIDS victims.

The identities of infected individuals were to be kept confidential.

IASB officials told board member Joanne Travis-Terrell the district should consider delaying implementation of the AIDS policy pending a study into the legal ramifications.

Terrell attended an IASB workshop in Springfield Jan. 24-25.

"THEY URGED US to develop a policy on communicable diseases and make decisions on a case-by-case basis," Terrell said.

She said the IASB had no specific objections to the AIDS policy, but felt since it was a relatively new concern, District 9 should await publication of IASB guidelines.

EDWARDSVILLE - The Madison County Board will be sending letters of protest to department heads who closed offices on Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday holiday last month. Those offices have letters on file asking the board to negotiate union contracts on their behalf, but violated that contract by closing down, according to county board member Fred Dalton of Collinsville, head of the county's personnel committee.

The letters will ask department heads who gave a holiday for King's birthday to have the employees make up the time through additional hours worked, Dalton said.

Yvonne Manogian of American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 799, which represents many county workers, said she does not think the county can force employees to make up time given for the holiday.

She said the county has reneged on the union's contract by making some, but not all, union employees work on King's birthday.

The union filed a grievance with the personnel committee over the matter, but that grievance was denied on Feb. 4.

There was confusion over whether county offices should close Jan. 20. The new federal holiday was not among the days listed as county holidays in the union's contract, Dalton said.

The state's attorney's office officials said there was no obligation to observe the holiday, but later issued an opinion saying offices should be closed. Those under direct control of the County Board remained open as well as several others, including the county clerk's office.

Manogian said about half of the union members had the day off, the rest did not. She said that is a violation of the county's contract with AFSCME.

"We have a lot of unhappy union members," she added.

Manogian said she is not sure the union will push for a holiday on Casimir Pulaski's birthday next month. Pulaski was a Revolutionary War hero of Polish descent. His birthday was recently made a state holiday.

"Right now, we want to deal with Martin Luther King's birthday. He's a bigger figure than Pulaski," she said.

Dalton said that even if county offices are closed to the public on Pulaski's birthday, employees will be working.

County Clerk Evelyn Bowles said 3rd Circuit Chief Judge Phil Rietick has sent a letter to County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer, Granite City, saying the courts and offices under the courts will be closed for Pulaski's birthday because the offices are staffed by state employees.

Lancers win 'first' SWC wrestling title

By SCOTT MARION
Staff Writer

BELLEVILLE — As far as Belleville East Coach Urban Baum is concerned, East won its first real Southwestern Conference wrestling championship last Saturday.

"We've won the conference before, but not when Granite City was in it," Baum said. "I don't count those. This is a really good sign for our team."

The host Lancers scored 189½ points to 146½ for second-place Granite City in the first competition between the teams since East beat the Warriors 37-10 in a dual meet Jan. 10.

Rounding out the five-team field were Belleville West (104½), Collinsville (95) and East St. Louis (47½).

Granite City, which re-joined the conference last season, had five champions in the conference meet, as did East. But the Lancers had nine wrestlers in championships matches, compared to six for the Warriors.

"We wrestled a little better against the East kids this time than in the dual meet," said Granite City Coach Walt Whitaker. "A couple of our kids didn't wrestle real well — Gary Mann at 112 (fourth place) and Dennis Gabriel at 130 (third place). But Brent Davis wrestled as well as he ever has."

Davis, a freshman, defeated East's Jason Storer 11-6 in the 98-pound championship match.

Davis had lost twice to Storer, in the dual meet and in the Granite City Holiday Tournament.

East St. Louis got its only champion at 105 as Lee Garth defeated Collinsville's Paul Hayes 14-3. Belleville East's Jim Arendell beat Belleville West's John Churchill 5-2 in the 112-pound title match.

Granite City wrestlers beat East wrestlers in the next two weight classes. Brett Carner earned a 5-3 decision over Steve Schmehl at 119 and Tracy Morrison earned a criterion decision over Craig Schwab at 120 after they battled to a 2-2 tie in overtime.

The Lancers' Scott Schmehl won a 15-0 technical fall over Collinsville's Jim Mikulat at 132 pounds. East's Steve Knoebel beat Collinsville's Steve Vogt at 135.

Granite City's Tom Sparks defeated Collinsville's Scott Baima 17-6 at 145; the Warriors' Mike Fenoglio pinned Belleville West's Steve Niemann in 2:34 to win the 155-pound title.

East's Ricky Chambers claimed the 167-pound championship in impressive form with an 18-3 superior decision over Granite City's Paul Brandt. Rick Barrett, a 185-pounder, claimed East's fifth championship by pinning Collinsville's Tom Griffin in 5:03.

West's John Hille defeated East's Scott Massie 11-1 in the heavyweight title match.

Third-place finishers were West's Joe Daubach at 98, West's Andy Juengel at 105, East St. Louis' Derek Brooks at 112, Collinsville's Todd Blaylock at 119, West's Doug Huwer at 126, West's Bob Scharf at 132, Granite City's Dennis Gabriel at 138, East's Herbie Brydon at 145, East's Jerry Sauerwein at 155, East St. Louis' Antonio Curran at 167, Granite City's Chris Greer at 185 and Granite City's Ross Karbaski at heavyweight.

Both the Lancers and the Warriors will be favored in this weekend's Class AA regionals, with East at Cahokia and Granite City at Edwardsville.

"If we wrestle like we're capable of, we can win it," Whitaker said. "If we let down, I could see Bethalto or Roxana slipping in and winning it."

Regional team champions advance to the team sectional Feb. 18 at Granite City; the top three individuals in each class compete in the individual sectional Feb. 21-22 at Granite City.

TIED UP. Granite City's Tracy Morrison and Belleville East's Craig Schwab battle in the 126-pound bout during last weekend's Southwestern Conference meet. Morrison won on a referee's criteria decision.

Cougars win 11th straight game

By AL BARNES
Staff Writer

EDWARDSVILLE — Everyone was talking about and predicting a bid to the NCAA Division II basketball tournament for the Cougars of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville following Saturday's convincing 85-79 victory over Northeast Missouri State.

It was the Cougars' 11th straight victory in a 16-5 season and the second win over the Bulldogs. Prior to this year, SIU had dropped 10 straight games to the Bulldogs.

The Cougars were again paced by junior John Edwards, who had 24 points by hitting on 9 of 17 field goal attempts and 6 of 10 free throw attempts. Smooth-as-silk Anthony Webster chipped in with 23 points. Webster, who missed the Cougars' first five games, appears completely over his ankle injury and could be a big help if SIU does get a postseason bid. Madison's Kenny Stanley was cold in the game's early going but finished with 17 points. Freshman Tim Goodwin of Cahokia contributed 11 points and led all rebounders with 10.

Rumor has it the Cougars will be joining the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association before the next school year. Bill Cable, sports information director at Northeast Missouri, said the Cougars would win the MIAA "going away" if they were in it this season.

He could be right. All five of the Cougars' defeats were at the hands of NCAA Division I schools: Kansas, Kansas State, Northern Illinois and SIU-Carbondale.

The Bulldogs were paced Saturday by Steve Dillard (20 points) and Dan Storck (16). They made 35 of 66 field goal attempts (53 percent), compared to 33 of 68 (47 percent) by the Cougars.

Warriors victorious on FTs from Schatz

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

MADISON — It was a matchup of some great basketball talent here Saturday night. Great individual performances were displayed by some of the top players in the area.

But in the end, it was the effort of one of the "other guys" that made the difference.

The Granite City Warriors held off a furious second-half charge by the Madison Trojans to win 76-65, as Warrior reserve Steve Schatz swished two pressure-packed free throws with 9 seconds left in the game to ice it for the Warriors, now 19-3 on the season. Madison fell to 13-9.

"You can't say enough about Steve Schatz," said Warrior Coach Don Deterding. "Two big free throws in the clutch. You had to figure they would foul him, because he was the guy fresh off the bench."

Schatz was in partially because Granite City wanted as many good ball handlers on the floor in the final seconds as possible, and partially because starter Chris Veizer had fouled out with 4:07 left in the game.

Although Schatz's two shots were the final deciding factor, three players in particular stood above the rest in the noisy Madison gym.

Jamie Hogan grabbed the spotlight from brother Tim for a night with 24 points. Tim Hogan added 15. For the Trojans, the loss spoiled outstanding efforts from guard Anthony Valentine and center Eric Valentine poured in 32 points, his season-high, and Jacks augmented that with 18 points and 17 rebounds, with at least half of those rebounds coming off the offensive glass.

"It's great to see that offensive punch from Jacks," said Madison Coach Rodney Watson. "It's nice to get him back on track at this time of year."

As for Jamie Hogan, Watson hopes it will be a while before he sees No. 2 again.

"Jamie Hogan just must like to play against Madison," Watson said. "He had a great game against us last time and again tonight. He's a good kid and a great player."

Jamie had 25 points in the Warriors' 80-58 trouncing of the Trojans in the Collinsville Holiday Tournament on Dec. 27.

The Warriors, who won their fourth straight game, appeared on their way to a win just as easy as that earlier game with the Trojans.

The game started with a hectic pace that saw Granite take a 22-17 lead after one quarter. The Hogans were held in check in the opening quarter, but Tom Taylor, Joe Gray and Veizer picked up the slack.

The Warriors' lead reached 14 in the second quarter when Jamie Hogan cashed in as the Warriors appeared to be running a warmup drill. Tim Hogan missed the first layup, then Gray rebounded and banked the ball off the glass as Jamie followed him and banked it off the glass and in. The Warriors led 43-33 at halftime.

The Warriors extended the lead to 17 (54-37) in the third quarter before the Trojans began the long road back.

Madison outscored Granite 16-1 in the last two minutes of the quarter. Valentine had two buckets, while Jacks, Darnell Marshall and Lamont Johnson each had one.

"You've got to give Madison credit there," Deterding said. "Their quickness bothered us. We were passing the ball too quickly and we made a lot of mistakes. But we'll talk about what we did wrong this week."

"We showed a lot of heart to come back against a good team, a great team," Watson said. "We just had a lapse midway in each half. You've got to overcome those late in the year."

Indeed, the lapse that might have cost Madison the game came at the outset of the final quarter. With the lead trimmed to six, 59-53, the Trojans missed their first two shots, and Jamie Hogan and Taylor converted at the other end. Veizer hit two free throws with 4:30 left to give Granite a 14-point lead again, 69-55. But back came the Trojans.

Valentine hit a free throw, then Earl Walker scored. Valentine then converted a 3-point play as Veizer fouled out. Walker made one free throw, missed the second, but Valentine rebounded and scored to make it a 69-64 game with 3:42 left.

But Tim Hogan then made one of the biggest baskets of the night as he beat the Madison defense down the court and connected on a 15-footer from the left baseline.

Jacks scored underneath, but Madison missed their next two shots, and Jamie Hogan's two free throws with 2:40 left again left the Warriors apparently safe. But Jacks, relentless under the basket, scored on a second rebound. Gray made one of two free throws, then missed the front end of a one-and-one, then Jacks' rebound basket with a minute left made it 74-60.

Gray again missed on a one-and-one and Valentine came down to make it a 2-point game with 33 seconds left. But again the Warriors zipped down the court and Jamie Hogan got a layup with 26 seconds left. Walker quickly scored to make it 76-74 and Watson called timeout.

The Warriors got the ball to Tim Hogan, who passed to Schatz in the right corner, where Chandler Terrell fouled him. Schatz coolly sank both shots, but Valentine finished his tremendous performance with a bucket with 6 seconds left.

The inbounds pass was intercepted by Lamont Johnson, but there was no time left as he heaved a 30-footer that would not have counted even if it had gone in.

"It's harder than heck to win here," Deterding said. "But this is a game for the kids and the fans to enjoy. I'm sure Madison really got up for it because they're a smaller school. But we responded to the challenge. I'm glad we got to rest our starters last night (an 80-52 win over Belleville East)."

The Trojans were playing their third game of four nights and were without the services of starter Reggie Young, who sprained an ankle in Friday's 68-58 win over Gibault. He is expected back Saturday when Madison hosts Teutopolis, the No. 1 rated Class A team in Illinois.

"Our kids definitely got up for this one," Watson said. "It was an exciting game. I wish Granite City the best of luck in the postseason. I hope they go all the way. I think they can. They have five players who can hurt you."

Better make that six, Rodney. You never know who might come off the bench and make two big foul 'Schatz'."
